Corporate beer workshop

Opportunities offered within the workshop can be classified in several events:

FIRST EVENT – selection of beer and negotiating the details

Tasting of beers and gourmet food at the "Old Town Brewery", where your management team, together with our help, will decide which beers of our selection best satisfy your refined taste. We must note that, if you have certain ideas and even beer recipes of your own that differ from ours, we are at your disposal and we are open to new flavors of beer.

In this way, it will be determined which types of beer will be the subject of production, within the beer workshop, the amount of it, the percentage of alcohol and level of IBU (international bitterness unit), the method of bottling, naming the beer, the making of bottles, cups, labels and any other details.

SECOND EVENT – beer production

Once all the details are determined, we will approach the production of beer. Beer brewing is a process that lasts 10 (ten) hours and during that time, your management team can stay in our offices and with their ideas to refine the taste of your beer. During the brewing of the beer, an additional tasting of beer and food will be held.

Please note that, after the brewing process, what follows is the process of lying (fermentation) that lasts 21 (twenty-one) days. On the tenth day of fermentation, the beer can be tasted, and you are welcome to come to our offices and try our joint product.

THIRD EVENT – bottling beer

After the beer is ready (21-st day of brewing), with your consent we will agree on a date for bottling. Your management team can be present for the bottling process, and with their proposals to determine the degree of carbonation and of course, re-tasting.

FOURTH EVENT – organizing entertainment

The beer is ready! Time for a PARTY!

It is time to organize a party that in front of your employees and business partners, together, we will proudly present your beer. The party can be organized at the “Old Town Brewery”, but if you wish the party can be organized in your premises, as well as any other location that you will specify. There will be a delivery of the remaining quantity of your beer.

All the events listed in this offer are our suggestions, and they can undergo changes and additions, according to your needs. The budget for the beer workshop will be further determined, depending on the type of beer, its quantity, as well as what exactly will be defined as the subject of the beer workshop.
